These buffets should serve guests for the time or event we suggest. You can order for any number from eight to 100.

If you like the style and simply want more food please order for more than the number of guests you're expecting*. You can order additional items at the checkout for extra variety or to add a bit more wow factor.

A discount of 10% applies when you book and order online at least ten days before your event. We accept bookings on a first-come-first-served basis. We get very busy at certain time of year and suggest you don't leave it that late to order if your date is important. Someone else may have got there first.

There may be a nominal charge to offset the cost of delivery, which is calculated at the checkout.

* We never want your guests to go short of food. Our buffets are priced for each person and your choice should reflect the number of guests you expect. We accept no responsibility for a shortage of food if more people arrive at your event than the number for whom you've ordered.
